Amazing Adaptogenic Herbs Give You Exactly What You Need

Unlike synthetic pharmaceuticals that don't understand your body and can---dangerously---release too much or too little medicine...Adaptogenic plants adapt to your body, and give you only what your body needs, and nothing more.

In fact, one could say that Adaptogens have "body intelligence" because they seem to know exactly how much "help" to dispense, keeping you safe from harm. Adaptogens are rare plants that can be found in certain parts of the world, and each Adaptogen offers its own special properties.

One in particular, Rhodiola, will help alleviate exhaustion caused by chronic stress.

Known as the "golden root", Rhodiola has been given to aging political leaders to help them feel young again. It's been used as traditional medicine in Scandinavia and Russia for centuries.

History says that a Russian soldier brought Rhodiola tea to his embattled troops in a war against Afghanistan. So powerful was its effects in calming the men, that the Russian---Zakir Ramzanov---went on to study in the U.S., bringing this root with him to reduce the stress of his own war-induced Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. Thus, Rhodiola was introduced to naturalists in the U.S.

With its ability to resist stress, Rhodiola has also helped astronauts and athletes boost their performance by quickly enhancing their strength...and now it can do the same for you!

The Secret Solution for Better Stamina

A second important Adaptogen to be found in Adrenal Optimizer is Eleuthero, a magical herb that will improve your mental and physical stamina to help reduce fatigue and feelings of weakness. This powerful plant promotes calmness and controls hyperactivity and nervousness---allowing you to increase physical energy, stamina, and mental concentration.

Eleuthero is known to:

- *Enhance energy over the long-term without jitters or energy roller coasters
- *Improve stamina to help you feel less fatigued
- * Strengthen your memory and keep you focused even when you're under pressure
- * Help you combat fatigue by maintaining high hormone levels to improve energy output

If that sounds good...then you could be ready to experience Eleuthero's powerful effects on the body. In fact, this Chinese herb has been around for 2,000 years as an aid to increase performance and enhance quality of life.

In Russia, Soviet Olympic athletes used Eleuthero to boost their training, which allowed for more endurance during competitions and resulted in greater performances. Furthermore, explorers, divers, sailors, and miners all used Eleuthero to increase stamina and withstand the tough struggles they endured.

Recognized as "the king Adaptogen of the world", Eleuthero will enhance your energy levels, stimulate your mental acuity, and aid your endurance to help protect your body against stress-inducing fatigue.

Licorice Root...An Adaptogen To Help Reduce Nervous Tension

Another Adrenal Optimizer Adaptogen is Licorice Root. Mostly known for its use in candy, this magical herb can help you overcome the exhaustion that comes from nervous tension.

Cortisol is a stress hormone made by the body and must be regulated in order for you to control your anxiety. Licorice Root is the Adaptogen to accomplish this difficult task. It's a potent anti-inflammatory herb to balance cortisol levels and fight fatigue that comes from nervous tension. This powerful plant will help your adrenal glands by boosting the level of corticoids in your system---and balancing your stress response and energy flow within the body.

Found in Europe, Asia, and the Middle East, Licorice Root is derived from the roots of Glycyrrhiza glabra, and will help you combat fatigue by providing your body with protein for quality energy production.

Your adrenal levels play a key role in coping with stress and fatigue. By taking advantage of Licorice Root, you'll have one more powerhouse to end fatigue---and restore your life force even in your most trying times!

Discover a 'Full Body Recharge' With Ashwagandha

Ashwagandha may be the most powerful Adaptogen of them all.

That's because the root and berry of this remarkable herb can increase your body's ATP productivity. ATP is the energy source that is stored and carried in every cell of your body.

According to the 5,000-year-old natural medicine system of Ayurveda, Ashwagandha is considered a "raysan," which in Indian means "life extender."

Not only does Ashwagandha go to the source of your own energy by stimulating every cell in your body (The ATP factor), but it's also known to increase blood cell production, enhance circulation, and boost oxygen levels.

In a study published in Phytotherapy Research, 25 people were given 300 milligrams of the proprietary Ashwagandha Extract KSM-66 twice daily, while another 25 participants were given a placebo. The group who took Ashwagandha Extract KSM-66 experienced significant improvement in their energy levels.

But that's not all... Ashwagandha has "brain boosting" benefits.

In an eye-catching animal study testing chronic stress, 85 percent of the brain cells of rats showed signs of degeneration. In the same study, the number of deteriorating brain cells was reduced by a whopping 80 percent when Ashwagandha was administered to the chronic-stressed animals.
